

The Boykin Spaniel proudly claims its title as South Carolina's state dog, with its roots firmly established in Camden, Kershaw County. The Boykin Spaniel Society (BSS), headquartered in Boykin, SC, serves as the original and authoritative registry for this exceptional breed. Our magazine, the BSS Quarterly, is a powerful voice for over 5,000 dog lovers nationwide, showcasing the remarkable qualities of the Boykin Spaniel.

For nearly three decades, the BSS has organized the National Field Trial, attracting the best Boykin Spaniels from across the country. Camden has been the proud host of this distinguished event for the past 10 years, and in 2025, we achieved remarkable growth, welcoming 350 dog handlers and attendees from more than 25 states.

The BSS National Field Trial is more than just a competition; it is a vital gathering for friends, families, and enthusiasts of all ages who share a deep passion for our beloved state dog. This annual celebration features competitions at every skill level—Puppy, Novice, Intermediate, and Open—ensuring that there is something for everyone. Known as the “Boykin Nationals,” it is a four-day reunion that strengthens our community.

Festivities kick off Thursday evening with a vibrant oyster roast and barbecue to launch the weekend in style. The trials and activities commence on Friday and include exciting events like the children's handler division, Natural Abilities testing, and the entertaining Hot Dog Retriever competition, where Boykin Spaniels vie to retrieve the largest hot dog piece in record time, generating laughter and excitement for all.

On Friday evening, we host a gourmet banquet paired with dynamic live and silent auctions, crucial for raising funds that support the BSS organization. Saturday is packed with thrilling activities, culminating in a grand celebration ceremony that honors the spirit of this event.

The BSS drives its mission forward through generous donations ranging from $200 to $2,500, which are essential for fostering the Boykin Spaniel breed and its community. We invite you to stand with the Boykin Spaniel Society and actively participate in celebrating our cherished South Carolina state dog. Together, we can forge a powerful partnership that benefits both the BSS and our beloved canine companions.
